Appeal delays second abuse case

Broward won't try ex-Scout leader if Putnam sentence upheld

By Dana Treen

Staff writer

PALATKA — In order to protect a victimized boy, a Broward County prosecutor will await the outcome of an appeal to reduce the sentence of convicted sex offender Jake Gary Hersey before deciding whether to pursue similar charges in South Florida.

On Oct. 30, Hersey, an assistant Scoutmaster with the Boy Scouts, was sentenced in Putnam County to 22 years in prison and 45 years probation after pleading guilty to seven counts of lewd and lascivious behavior with six boys.

Broward County Assistant State Attorney Dennis Bailey said he has talked to the parents and will await the outcome of an appeal to the Putnam County sentence before deciding if charges should be filed in South Florida, where Hersey also may have had sexual contact with a Boy Scout.

"If the [Putnam County] sentence stands, the parents I have talked to are satisfied," Bailey said. "In child victim cases, the decisions of the parents carry great weight with us."

A trial would further traumatize the child, he said. In a South Florida trial, the victim might have to testify, opening him to cross-examination by the defense attorney.

Bailey said the charge contemplated in Broward County is a sex act against a child, a first-degree felony with a maximum sentence of 30 years. The incident allegedly occurred on a scouting jamboree in Broward County in February 1988.

An appeal has been filed with the 5th Circuit Court of Appeal, contending that the State Attorney's Office in Palatka backed away from a plea agreement that would have resulted in a maximum 17 years in prison.

Palatka attorney Robert McLeod, who is representing Hersey, filed the appeal. In state sentencing guidelines, Hersey should have fallen within a range of nine to 12 years with an allowance for the judge to exceed the guidelines to 17 years, McLeod said.

"The state made that offer and that's what we pleaded to, and then they jumped off that agreement," McLeod said. "We want the benefit of the bargain."

Assistant State Attorney Richard Whitson of the State Attorney's Office in Palatka said his office had agreed to the 17-year maximum, but said a state Department of Corrections review of the case placed Hersey in a higher guideline category because of the nature of the contact Hersey had with the victims.

In the guidelines, those convicted of crimes are given points according to the crime. The victim contacts added points in Hersey's case that scored him into a higher guideline cell, Whitson said.

"The DOC found that because of the number of events he was confessing to, he would have scored higher," Whitson said. "We scored him wrong."

Whitson said Circuit Judge Robert Perry followed the DOC recommendation.

The father of a 14-year-old boy molested by Hersey said he and his wife think the sentence was adequate. They had asked the State Attorney's Office in Fort Lauderdale to investigate the Broward County allegations.

"We don't think the sentence was too harsh, considering what the incidents were," he said Thursday.

He said he does not want the sentence reduced.

Rachel Murphey, a Palatka attorney representing the parents in a civil suit against the Boy Scouts, said Hersey's willingness to cooperate in that case could also have an impact on whether new charges are pursued.

The civil suit claims the North Florida Council of the Boy Scouts of America were negligent in placing Hersey in an custodial position with the Scouts. Hersey, 26, was an assistant Scoutmaster with the St. James Methodist Church Boy Scout Troop 62 in Palatka.

CONF016471

New sex counts filed in Putnam ex-Scouter case

By Dana Treen
Staff writer

PALATKA - A former assistant Scoutmaster was charged yesterday with 18 additional sexual assault charges involving five Putnam County boys.

Some of the victims, a prosecutor said, were Boy Scouts.

The suspect, Jake Gary Hersey, may have assaulted as many as 10 boys in three states during the past four years, Assistant State Attorney Paul Meredith said.

Last week, Hersey, 26, was arrested on three counts of sexual battery and two counts of lewd and lascivious assault on a boy. Hersey has been held on a $17,516 bond in the Putnam County Jail since his arrest. An additional $50,072 bond has been recommended by authorities.

Hersey, a Putnam County resident, was charged yesterday with 16 new counts of lewd and lascivious assault upon a child and two new charges of sexual battery, Meredith said. The incidents involved five boys who were between the ages of 12 and 14 when the alleged violations occurred, sheriff's detective Chuck Whaley said.

"He [Hersey] was very cooperative and remorseful," Meredith said.

Palatka attorney Robert "Mac" McLeod, who represents Hersey, said: "I would not have any comment about any of the charges except to say we will maintain a plea of not guilty until we conduct an investigation. These are very serious allegations and warrant a very serious investigation."

Meredith said his office and the Sheriff's Office became involved in the case after learning from a parent that Boy Scout officials were getting ready to confront Hersey with allegations that he had molested at least one youth.

A state attorney's representative attended a meeting between Hersey and Scout leaders May 15. Meredith said Hersey agreed to cooperate with sheriff's investigators.

Sex charges mount against Putnam man

"The instances varied from fondling a child who was asleep and had no idea of what was happening to the most serious acts upon a frightened child," Meredith said.

Hersey had been an assistant Scoutmaster with the St. James United Methodist Church Troop 62 Scout troop for several years. He was a member of the troop as a boy and became an Eagle Scout when he was 18, Meredith said.

After a stint in the military, Hersey rejoined the troop as an assistant Scoutmaster and accompanied the group on outings in Florida and to other states. The troop has about 15 active members.

There is evidence, Meredith said, that assaults on Putnam County boys occurred on Scout outings to New Mexico and North Carolina.

He said there is also evidence of assaults occurring in Fort Lauderdale and Williston. No charges have been filed in those jurisdictions.

"The parents of the children involved in the out-of-state incidents have asked us not to pursue those incidents ... until these Putnam County incidents are resolved," Meredith said yesterday.

Meredith said the choice not to file charges in other jurisdictions was made because of the number of charges in the Putnam County cases and to protect other victims from having to testify.

"If an adequate resolution is reached in the Putnam County cases, it would avoid further traumatization of the victims by going further with other victims," he said.

"My guess is that those parents [other victims] have a wait-and-see attitude."

Hersey was expelled from the Boy Scout organization the day of his arrest.

SUBJECT: Jake Gary Hersey

Palatka, Florida 32077

May 11, 1989 at 2:09 p.m. Vernon Adams Scoutmaster of Troop 62, called the Council Service Center and talked with Frank Rains and Steve Moore, about Gary Hersey.

mother of a scout in Troop 62, had called Vernon expressing concerns of activity by Gary Hersey regarding her son Steve Moore arranged to be in Palatka on May 12, and met Vernon Adams at his residence at 2:30 in the afternoon. , her husband and son arrived a few minutes later at the Adams residence.

After some conversation, indicated that Mr. Hersey was sleeping in the same tent with him on a camping trip in September at Leesberg. During the night when Mr. Hersey thought that was asleep he unzipped his sleeping bag and fondled in the groin area. was surprised and embarrassed, did not know what to do and did not confront Mr. Hersey. On another camping trip in March at Camp Francis, Mr. Hersey again was in the same tent with and had unzipped sleeping bag. had tight fitting jeans on and therefore was not able to fondle him.

is in the same church and school as Troop 107. They had discussed with each other the fact that Gary Hersey was queer and had agreed that each would tell their parents.

Vernon Adams and Steve Moore visited with in her office about 4:00 p.m. on May 12. They shared with the concerns that the boys had expressed. had not yet been informed by her son Vernon and Steve offered to support anyway she chose in the process of discussion with indicated that she wanted to talk with by herself initially, but would call us at Vernon Adams residence so that we could speak with following her conversation with him. Adams and Moore went to the Adams residence to wait for the phone call. About 5:00 p.m. the phone call came and we proceeded to the residence. indicated that on a camping trip in March at Grassy Pond, with Troop 107, Gary Hersey was along and was sleeping in his tent. The weather was hot and was sleeping on top of his sleeping bag in his shorts. Gary reached over and began fondling and objected and told him to quit. Hersey responded, "just wait" and Hersey kept on feeling him.'

CONF016475

A couple of weeks ago [REDACTED] and Hersey were at [REDACTED] grandmother's house. Hersey was sitting on the couch and told [REDACTED] to "come here and sit on my lap." [REDACTED] obeyed and Hersey started feeling on him while he was sitting on his lap.

In visiting with both parents they were encouraged to proceed with prosecution and advised that Hersey would be removed from the Boy Scouts of America. [REDACTED] indicated that she would probably seek a restraining order on Monday to keep Hersey away from their residence.

SUBJECT: Jake Gary Hersey, May 15, 1989

On May 15, 1989 at 5:50 p.m. Steven Moore met with Vernon Adams, Julian A. Browning, (a paralegal from 7th Judicial Circuit State's Attorney Office), and with Jake Gary Hersey, assistant Scoutmaster of Troop 62.

I asked Gary Hersey if he was familiar with the Youth Protection Program of the Boy Scouts of America. He acknowledged that he was and stated that he intended to attend the training program that was scheduled for later this week.

I informed Hersey that several people had expressed concerns about his leadership and example of relationships with some of the young men in the community. I proceeded to read the letter of membership revocation as outlined in the 1988 revision of the "Child Sexual Abuse" pamphlet published by the Boy Scouts of America. I gave Hersey his copy of the letter, I advised Hersey of his appeal rights and handed him a copy of the appeal procedure as outlined in Appendix D, and presented him his refund check for registration.

I stated that we were concerned about young people and their ability to deal with issues such as this and had counseling available. I asked him if he knew of any specific young people that we should be concerned about? He freely identified [REDACTED] and stated that these people were all cousins of his. I asked him if he has any further comments or questions about what was occurring and he said he did not except he would like to talk with me in private in a minute. I acknowledged that I would do that. Julian Browning advised him that HRS had been informed and that there would be further investigation of the allegations.

Hersey and Moore stepped aside out of hearing of Browning and Adams and Hersey acknowledged he did have a problem and asked what my thoughts were on how he could deal with it. I told him I was glad to hear that he acknowledged a problem existed and that he needed to secure some form of professional help and major intervention was important. We talked about the resources of the mental health clinic, pastors, local hospital and HRS.

Adams and Browning had gone inside the church to place a telephone call, upon their return Browning invited Hersey to go with him to the sheriff's office for further discussion if he chose. Hersey elected to go with Browning.

CONF016477

SUBJECT: Jake Gary Hersey, May 15, 1989

Upon returning home in Jacksonville at about 8:00 p.m. I placed a call to the HRS Abuse Line in Tallahassee and reported as much detail as was available at this time.

I then called [REDACTED], mother of [REDACTED] and advised [REDACTED] that $100.00 for counseling services on a weekly basis to a maximum of $1000.00 was available should she chose to take advantage of the opportunity. [REDACTED] stated that their church was currently providing free counseling service for [REDACTED] and expressed appreciation for our offer but felt that the current counseling process would be appropriate.

I called [REDACTED] mother of [REDACTED]. I advised her that we had visited with Gary Hersey, and had removed him from the Boy Scouts of America as we had indicated we would. I offered [REDACTED] the opportunity for counseling services at $100.00 a week with maximum of $1000.00 for the benefit of [REDACTED] if she thought it would be necessary. [REDACTED] asked if there was any time limit for her to accept this offer. I responded that I did not know but I would check and get back to her. [REDACTED] expressed appreciation for the way the Boy Scouts had handled this whole process.

Subject: Jake Gary Hersey, May 16, 1989

Vernonr Adams called at 10:20 a.m. Following a meeting with parents as a part of the Troop meeting on May 15, discussing the fact with the youth and parents that Gary Hersey had been removed from teh Boy Scouts of America, it was discovered that [REDACTED] has also been a victim of this abuse. [REDACTED] parents are [REDACTED], Phone number is [REDACTED].

11:00 a.m.

I called Julian Browning from the State's Attorney Office to offer support of the Boy Scouts of America and express appreciation for his presence the previous evening. Browning stated that Gary had made a confession to one abuse incident the previous evening and was subsequently arrested. Detective Whaley is investigating Detetive at this time.

SUBJECT: Jake Gary Hersey, May 16, 1989, 8:28 p.m.

Steven Moore called and talked with [REDACTED], regarding her son [REDACTED] and his abuse by Hersey. It was determined that Hersey had abused [REDACTED] twice on a camp out. The family was particularly upset over the issue. [REDACTED] was currently out of town on a business meeting. I advised [REDACTED] about the counseling resources that were available from the Boy Scouts of America. [REDACTED] indicated that if they felt there was a need for counseling and she would probably be in touch with Dr. Currey in Palatka. [REDACTED] appreciated the fast action and support of the Boy Scouts of America in dealing with this issue.

Steve Moore called [REDACTED], stepfather of [REDACTED]. In a conversation with one of the abused children, it appeared that Hersey had been particularly attentive to [REDACTED]. After conversation by Scoutmaster Vernon Adams with the [REDACTED] family, it was confirmed that [REDACTED] had also been abused on Scouting activities: [REDACTED] indicated that [REDACTED] was doing fair. I offered the resources of counseling from the Boy Scouts of America and it was expressed that if counseling appeared to be needed they could take advantage of the opportunity.

9:30 p.m. [REDACTED] returned phone call to Steven Moore and indicated that "he had to many ears present" to talk as there were five other children around during our previous conversation. The situation was reviewed, and attitudes seem to be okay. [REDACTED] expressed appreciation for the call and the counseling was reviewed as a option.

Vernon Adams called on May 17 and asked that if additional abuses by Hersey or other people surfaced in the future whether or not these needed to be reported to HRS. I told Vernon Adams I would follow through and secure an answer for him in this question.

As of Monday evening, May 15, 1989, Jake G. Hersey was arrested and has confessed to several charges of child abuse. So far he has been officially charged with three (3) counts of Sexual Battery and one (1) count of Lewd and Lascivious Assault. He is presently in jail under $17,516.00 bond.

he troop," Miller said. "We never knew a thing about it until yesterday [Monday] afternoon."

Miller would not say where the alleged assaults occurred but said the chance of additional charges was "probable."

Maj. David Stout of the Sheriff's Office said the incidents were alleged to have occurred on Scout outings.

Steven Moore, director of support services for the North Florida Council of the Boy Scouts of America office in Jacksonville, said Hersey was expelled from the organization Monday after the council learned there were concerns about Hersey.

"We became aware of a situation and removed him from association with kids," Moore said. "That kind of thing always surprises. The Boy Scouts are aggressive about being concerned with protection of youth."

Scoutmaster Adams said Hersey had been a member of the troop before entering the military, then rejoined the troop as an assistant Scoutmaster after leaving the service.

Adams did not know the exact length of time but said Hersey had been with the Scout troop as a leader for several years.

The 37-year-old troop has about 15 active members and an equal number of active parents, Moore said. Moore said he thinks Hersey worked at a boat manufacturing plant in Flagler County.

Dear Mr. Hersey:

After careful review, we have decided that your registration with the Boys Scouts of America should be suspended. We are therefore compelled to request that you sever any relations that you may have with the Boy Scouts of America. A refund of your registration fee is enclosed.

You should understand that BSA membership registration is a privilege and is not automatically granted to everyone who applies. We reserve the right to suspend registration whenever there is a concern that an individual may not meet the high standards of membership which the BSA seeks to provide for American youth.

If you wish to have this decision reviewed by a council review committee, please write to me within 60 days of the date of this letter, explaining your version of the facts supporting your claim that your registration as a BSA member should be reinstated. The procedures for a review of this decision are attached.

Sincerely yours,

E. Earl Crittenden
